IONIAN SEA

MEGANISI ISLAND

Meganisi is a picturesque island of the Ionian sea, 4 nautical miles southeast of Lefkada. The traditional architecture, the hospitable residents, the quite life, the magnificent sceneries, the picturesque bays with the fish taverns, the restaurants and entertainment shops, the splendid view, the green landscapes and the crystal waters, create an ideal place for the summer holidays.

IONIAN SEA

KALAMOS ISLAND

Kalamos is a rare example of an absolutely untouched and perfect Ionian landscape. It is located opposite the Greek mainland and the town of Mytikas. Kalamos is an ideal destination if you are looking for the real and traditional Greek atmosphere and way of living. The coast is covered by numerous coves, mostly covered by pebbles and often accessible only by sea. The island and its villages are very quiet also thanks to the fact that there aren't any cars or vehicles on the island.

IONIAN SEA

KASTOS ISLAND

The very idea of any location remaining truly undiscovered and unspoilt in the 21st century seems unlikely, to say the least. That such a location could be a small island off south western Greece, surrounded by opal seas and boasting lush green hills, empty beaches, two quiet harbours and scarcely more than 50 permanent residents, would make the suggestion seem frankly far-fetched. Yet this is the reality of Kastos.

IONIAN SEA ITHACA ISLAND

Famous as the legendary homeplace of Ulysses, Ithaca island is a paradisiacal island for total relaxation. It has amazing lush greenery, gem villages and beaches with blue green waters. Kioni and Vathy are the most picturesque villages, while wonderful beaches to swim are Filiatro, Sarakiniko and Agios Ioannis.

DEFINITELY VISIT:

Archeological Museum • Maritime & Folk Art Museum
Nymphs Cave or Marmarospilia • Evmaios Cave
Theotokos Church • Alalkomenes • Gidaki beach

IONIAN SEA

KEFALONIA ISLAND

Magnificent scenery, amazing beaches, a rich cultural heritage, great monuments, mountains, castles, distant monasteries and the cheerful, hospitable people are the assets that have turned Kefalonia Island into one of the most attractive destinations. The largest Ionian island lies in the mouth of Patraikos Gulf, between Zakynthos and Lefkada. It is endowed with an exquisite nature and diverse geological formations, countless coves, and lush vegetation.

Napier's Garden • Drapanos stone bridge • Archeological Museum
Korgialeneios Library • History & Folk Art Museum
Pharaoh Hill • Katavothres • Agioi Theodoroi Lighthouse

IONIAN SEA PREVEZA

Capital of the prefecture, built on the entrance of the Gulf of Amvrakikos. A modern city, administrative, commercial, intellectual and tourist center of the prefecture. Beautiful, traditional buildings adorn the port and the historical center while the pedestrian walkways and cobblestone streets lined with popular taverns and cafés remind us of the islands.

 The Amvrakikos wetlands habitat

IONIAN SEA PAXOS ISLAND

A sanctuary of love for gods. Cultural village of Europe for the year 2004, Paxi (or Paxoi) is the ideal island for a peaceful holiday. Fjord-shaped beaches, underwater caves, small bays and green hills welcome the lucky visitors. According to the legend, the island would be the southernmost tip of Corfu, if the God of the Sea, Poseidon, had not broken it off with his trident when he needed a god-deserving place to live his love with the Nereid Amphitrite.

DEFINITELY VISIT:

Venetian fortress of Agios Nikolaos • English Governor's House
Paxi Museum • Churches & chapels of the area

IONIAN SEA

ANTIPAXOS ISLAND

It is a pretty, miniature of an island, southeast of Paxoi (3 nm from Gaios), known for its fantastic beaches. Voutoumi, a beach of exotic beauty, is among the finest in Greece.

IONIAN SEA CORFU ISLAND

Cosmopolitan Kerkyra is probably the best known Ionian island and one of the Mediterranean's most popular destinations. It attracts hundreds of thousands of tourists annually and is an inexhaustible source of artistic inspiration. Its enormous cultural heritage, combined with its natural beauty, ideal climate, inviting beaches, and noteworthy sights make it a prestigious and attractive destination for Greek and foreign visitors alike.

DEFINITELY VISIT:

Villages Lefkimi, Kasiopi, Agios Stefanos & Korakiana

IONIAN SEA

OTHONOI ISLANDS

Othonoi (Othoni) is a small island of the Ionian sea, close to the north shore of Corfu island. It is the largest inhabited island of the Diapontia group and it is also the remotest of them, constituting the westernmost point of Greece. Othonoi is a getaway destination where you can enjoy very calm and hospitable stay among the friendly locals. The island port called Ammos lies in a wind protected bay and it has a few beaches around the port with soft sand and shallow water. Ammos has developed as the most populous settlement of Othonoi, with restaurants, cafes, mini markets, a few small hotels.

IONIAN SEA

ERIKOUSA ISLAND

Ereikoussa is the most northern, inhabited island of the Ionian Sea and the second biggest of the Diapontia islands complex. It is a hidden gem and a small paradise where guests can relax and come closer to nature. If you love hiking through green mountain alleys and feel amazed by azure Ionian waters, Ereikoussa should be on your bucket list. The island has two beautiful beaches, Porto, which is the island's main port and Bragini, a quiet sandy beach. Although a small island (just 4,5 sq.km) you may find plenty of choices for food and entertainment.

IONIAN SEA SIVOTA

Most of the people visiting Sivota stay only near beaches. Nevertheless, the rest of the area is also equally interesting. From the south side of the settlement starts a beautiful route which includes the abandoned Vrachona settlement and Polineri village. Because the area is full of rural roads most of the route follows them. Hikers' effort is paid back with the beautiful view of Sivota islets and Corfu in the background.

IONIAN SEA PARGA

Parga is a lovely town on the north western side of Greece, nestled between lush green hills and the clear waters of the Ionian Sea. Although it is a mainland town, its architecture gives a special island vibe. Colorful houses with a breathtaking view of the sea, exotic beaches with turquoise waters and a wonderful natural landscape give the best of impressions to every traveller.
